

Third-party media credits

Superyacht Content may on some occasions feature third-party media on their website and through their social channels.

We will always attempt to credit and link-back to the original owner/source of the featured third-party media where possible.

Superyacht Content welcome contact from any individual or organisation who believe images & media have been incorrectly credited and will act swiftly to resolve any issues- even if this includes the complete removal of third party media at the request of the owner, which will be completed without delay.

We take these issues very seriously, so please do not hesitate to get in touch with us! Any questions or complaints regarding third party media and credits should be directed to hello@superyachtcontent.com
