Hassle-free Uniform Supply

Yachts often have to keep their own records of what items were purchased and from where. There is also the lottery of embroidery or screen-printing whether each supplier can provide the same sizes, colours or personalise the uniform consistently.

Taylor Made Designs offers an online e-store developed to solve these problems and allows you to manage superyacht uniform requirements easily. We all know too well the horrible burden of when certain uniform items get discontinued. TMD offers a suggestion service on a product that will closely match what you previously had should they not find the stock.

Ed Taylor Comments:

"Our resources and supply chain are infinite. This coupled with our own embroidery and print facilities allows us to work to our client's briefs to come up with several solutions to suit any budget."
